With unparalleled freedom in the Golden Age of Hollywood, movies produced during the "pre-Code" era of 1930 through 1934 boldly confronted a wide range of provocative subjects. Films of the period include beloved classics like Grand Hotel (1932) and King Kong (1933) but also lesser-known gems like I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang (1932) and Ann Vickers (1933). These films, produced at the height of the Great Depression, pushed the limits of contemporary social norms at a time when Hollywood studios were desperate to attract audiences—by any means necessary. Film enthusiasts will delight in this fascinating lecture on a unique period in cinema history.
