Please see the response below from the County's insurance broker. If Payne/Mr. Mulch has all of their equipment removed from the site on the last date of the agreement, does not do any more work there after that date, etc., in short, if they are completely out of the property on that date, their current insurance policies should be sufficient without the need for tail coverage.

Hi, Beth.

Following up on our earlier conversation, it is correct that the "Occurrence" would respond to an incident that "occurred" during the policy term, but reported after the policy term. Your understanding is that, based on this contractor's scope of work, once the contract ends and he leaves, he will take his equipment and product with him, which makes it unlikely for a potential incident after the contract is done.

Thanks for taking the time to talk this through with me earlier. If you have any other questions, please do not hesitate to call.

Kindest Regards,

Mr. Mulch's agreement with the County began March 7, 2017. Can you also send policies for that time period?

Beth,

Due to the file sizes, I will send the policies in three emails. Let me know if you need anything further.
